Umar Akmal Khan

Umar's Family's Story of Survival

Umar is the 16-year-old son of Muhammad Akmal Khan, a clerical worker in a private office in Karachi, earning a meager amount of Rs. 15,000. Umar's mother passed away last year, leaving behind 6 children: 2 sons and 4 daughters. He is the second eldest among his siblings and immediately after his mother passed away, his whole personality underwent a metamorphosis: from being a care-free child, he became a responsibility-bearing mature adult, helping his sister in looking after their siblings and their home.

He is not only a victim of poverty and illiteracy but has to handle responsibilities much beyond his years. School used to be his only solace, but recently his admission was cancelled as his father could not afford the fee. Umar's father, Muhammad Akmal, has sadness reflected in his eyes: "With the rising prices of rent, fuel, and groceries, education for my children seems like a far-fetched dream for now," he says.

What added to Umar's already challenging life was a constant pain in his left eye and difficulty with seeing clearly. His father took him to a nearby hakeem who used traditional remedies but to no avail. There were days when he would howl in pain and his eyes would tear up.

The final nail in the coffin was when his eyesight began to deteriorate rapidly and he was unable to see. Umar felt devastated: "I was so scared that I would lose my eyes. I did not have the heart to ask my father to take me to the hospital because I knew that money was tight."

Despite his efforts to put up a brave front, his pain

was too much to bear and he felt forced to ask for help. His father had no one to turn to. Due to his wife's prolonged illness, he was already knee-deep in loans. Akmal felt like he had hit rock bottom as all his requests for a loan were declined. As a last resort, he went to the same relative who had lent him money earlier to help with his wife's illness. He respected Akmal for his hard work and simplicity but could not offer further financial help. Instead, he advised him to go to LRBT's Korangi Hospital and also shared the best news that Akmal had heard in years – LRBT provides free eye care for the underprivileged.

Early next morning, he took Umar to LRBT Korangi. Throughout his journey, Akmal kept praying that LRBT would not turn out to be an NGO which falsely advertised free treatment. A very skeptical Akmal walked in with his young son, and thus began the journey towards healing for their whole family. Umar was given a complete eye examination: the doctors diagnosed traumatic cataract in his left eye and gave him an immediate date of surgery. When Akmal was assured that everything will be done for free, he started crying out of happiness and hugged Umar, expressing his gratitude to God and LRBT.

Umar's surgery was successful and his eyesight is now normal. For their family, it truly felt like a celebration. "I think my mother is blessing us from the heavens above," said Umar. They were touched by the care and affection shown by the hospital staff.

"I didn't know I was so strong until I was tested again and again. My aim in life now is to get an education for myself and my siblings. I will help my father in every way I can to ensure that we get educated. If there were more institutes like LRBT, underprivileged people like me won't have to suffer and go through the hardships like we did looking for free medical help. Thank you LRBT for giving me a second shot at life and the opportunity to become something. I will never take my eyesight for granted again" – Umar

COPING WITH THE EVER-GROWING PATIENT VOLUME

LRBT started off as a small mobile unit in Tando Bago over 37 years ago. Over the years, it has spread throughout the country with 19 hospitals and 56 primary eye care and 4 outreach clinics. The journey of growth and expansion continues.

Rahim Yar Khan | New Hospital

The construction of Rahim Yar Khan Hospital is currently developing according to schedule. In the last quarter, the foundations and boundaries of the construction had been laid out. Currently, the plinth beam for 2 residences is being constructed and arrangements are being made for the plaster, plumbing, and electrical work for the residences. The brick masonry work is also in progress.

This project has been made possible through the full financial support of a UAE-based donor who helped with the purchase of land and construction of this hospital. In the past, he has sponsored major renovation and expansion costs at the Lar, Multan, Khanewal, Gambat hospitals & built a new hospital building at Mandra.

Outreach clinic at Tando Adam

After many requests by the locals at Tando Adam, and many renovations, preparations, and effort on our part, LRBT is proud to announce that we have now revived the operation theatre and patients have begun receiving quality treatments here. This is the first time revival of operations are being conducted at this facility.

Eyecare Health Tip

Give your eyes a rest. If you spend a lot of time using a computer, you can forget to blink your eyes and your eyes can get tired. To reduce eyestrain, try the 20-20-20 rule: Every 20 minutes, look away about 20 feet in front of you for 20 seconds.
